PINOT NOIR, SOLI, THRACIAN VALLEY, BULGARIA 2017

Bulgaria might not be the first place that comes to mind when thinking of quality Pinot Noir, however in a sheltered little vineyard on the eastern side of the Thracian Valley, Italian winemaker Edoardo Miroglio is crafting delicious, juicy, perfumed pinot. I've tried this blind against many different pinot noirs from around the world and I was convinced it was a Santenay from Burgundy – and I wasn't the only one in the group. The wine is light, fresh, fragrant with redcurrant and wild strawberry fruit and it's dangerously easy to drink. Perfect for a Thursday evening when you are just in the mood for a glass of something delicious.

SAKES

AKASHI TAI, SHIRAUME GINJO UMESHU

The nose on this Ginjo sake that was infused with plums to extract the sweet and sour flavoring is a robust collection of honey, plum, and juicy aromas. Look at that color! This beautiful umeshu drinks as lovely as it looks. Sweet, full, lush, round, chewy, viscous, and herbaceous it is not your typically overly sweet plum sake. It is gooey and tart, but there are roasted plum and honey tones galore. It is thick and fun, but not cloying sweet, and it definitely does better with a chill or even an ice cube or two. A round and chewy umeshu with honey tones and herbal hints.
